

Day 14: December 8th
Ownership & Objectification of Women

Women frequently face sexual objectification in daily interpersonal interactions and through the active and passive consumption of multimedia. This can lead to internalization of society's scrutiny, resulting in habitual body monitoring and self-consciousness. In turn it can increase feelings of body shame and appearance anxiety. (Emma Rooney 2016 - steinhardt.nyu.edu)

Laura's story

'I was the victim of a crime as a teenager, at the hands of a man who sexually abused me for several years. When I eventually told people about the abuse, some who were close to the abuser chose not to believe me. "Why didn't you fight him?" they asked. "Why didn't you scream? You've always been so outspoken - if it really happened you would have told us earlier!" I was branded a liar, labelled mentally unstable, and told I had got it all wrong. This blame left me feeling broken'. (Jessica Valenti-Guardian Columnist)

Global Facts

- In 128 countries, laws treat men and women differently, making it impossible, for example, for a woman to independently obtain an ID card, own or use property, access credit, or get a job.
- Statistics suggest 53% of 12-year-old girls and 78% of 17-year-olds feel unhappy with their bodies. 65% of women and girls have an eating disorder. (Katie Couric, forbes.com, 2011)

In 'Laudato Sí' Pope Francis says:

'Each human being as a subject can never be reduced to the status of an object.' LS 81
